

Subject: Call for Volunteers for Liaison Manager to Ecma TC39
Source: Istvan Sebestyen
Purpose: Information and action
Date: 6 June 2014

On the request of IETF/IAB, Ecma and IETF/IAB have established a liaison relationship on TC39 (ECMAScript) matters. This email is the call for the liaison manager on the IETF/IAB side.

We, from the Ecma side, should also appoint someone who would be the liaison person towards IETF/IAB.

Just for information, we may end up with two liaison persons but often the same person can also work in both directions.

Subject: Call for Volunteers for Liaison Manager to ECMA TC39

The IAB and ECMA International's TC39 have agreed to establish a liaison relationship between the two organizations. The IAB is seeking a volunteer to serve as IETF liaison manager to ECMA TC39 to represent IETF views, as required. The IETF process for managing such relationships is detailed in RFCs 4052, 4053, and 4691. It is preferred to have a liaison manager that participates in with both the IETF and TC39 activities, and is familiar with the processes of the organizations. As it is expected that the first activity will be related to JSON, therefore some understanding of JSON is desirable.

If you are interested, please reply to this message by 7 July 2014, with a brief note that explains your interest, your background, availability to attend meetings, and whether you have any potential conflicts of interest. The IAB would like to make a decision during the week of the Toronto IETF meeting.

Please note, the IAB may seek the views of the community on candidates, and we may wish to interview candidates during the Toronto meeting.

On behalf of the IAB,
Russ Housley
IAB Chair
